Terrorism

It's not the bullet with my name on it that worries me. It's the one that says "To whom it may concern."

The handout called Photoelectron Spectroscopy

Announcements:

This week in class on Thursday you will have the Brass Lab. This is a lab book lab and one of our better labs of the year. There will be a POGIL for you to work on this weekend.

There is a lab report due on Monday for spectroscopy. I will be looking for two graphs (both full page) and a line drawn on the Beer's Law Graph. The purpose is to determine the concentration of an unknown.

There is a ton of homework for this unit so you need to start early this weekend.
